GOV. EASLEY APPOINTS BULLOCK TO 11th JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT BENCH

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley today appointed Charles Patrick Bullock to the District Court bench in the 11th Judicial District (Harnett, Johnston and Lee counties). Bullock takes a seat created by the North Carolina General Assembly in 2007.

“Charles Bullock’s career as an assistant district attorney, corporate counsel and private practitioner has prepared him well to serve on the District Court bench,” Easley said. “His work ethic, temperament and commitment to fairness are well respected throughout the district.”

Bullock served as an assistant district attorney in the 11th Judicial District from 2003 to 2006 and returned to the office in 2007. From 2003 to 2006 he prosecuted cases in both the District and Superior courts. He has also worked as corporate counsel negotiating contracts and as a private practitioner handling both criminal and civil matters. Bullock has served as the President of the Harnett County Bar Association.

Bullock received his undergraduate degree from UNC at Pembroke in 1999 and his law degree from the Campbell University Norman Adrian Wiggins School of Law in 2003.
